Cboe Australia funds launch on North

Cboe Australia is pleased to announce the introduction of Cboe Funds to leading investment platform, North.

Cboe Australia is committed to providing investors with greater access to Australia's most innovative investment products which include a range of Cboe funds.

Cboe Australia CEO Vic Jokovic said: "North is a leading wrap platform and we are pleased to be a global exchange offering unique Cboe funds locally to their customers".

"Partnership with reputable firms like North is part of our plan to transform the Australian investment market by facilitating broader access to the market leading funds available on Cboe Australia."

"Our Cboe Funds market continues to grow, and this year we've led the industry by providing Australians with the first regulated ETFs in some of the world's largest digital assets with leading fund managers like ETF Securities, Cosmos/Purpose Asset Management and 3iQ Asset Management.

"There are now six products on Cboe Australia providing investors with direct access to crypto asset investment on Cboe Funds, in addition to our broad suite of funds across Australian and international equities and fixed income asset classes. In total, Investors have now allocated more than $3.1 billion in assets under management to Cboe Funds."

AMP's Director of Platforms Edwina Maloney said: "The introduction of Cboe Funds is the latest step in strengthening North's investment menu, providing advisers and clients access to a growing range high-quality investment options, which has contributed to MyNorth's recent 5 Apple Chant West platform rating.

"Over the last 12 months North has added 190 investment options, 46 managed portfolios, and 72 partnered managed portfolios to its investment menu."
